

The Kroger Co. Foundation 2025 Report

The Kroger Co. Foundation, the company’s private foundation, aligns community investments and grants with Kroger’s Purpose—to Feed the Human Spirit™. The foundation has a long tradition of giving back generously to support national, regional and local community nonprofit organizations across the country.

The foundation supports organizations that provide meals for our neighbors, enhance local economic and educational opportunities, and provide critical relief and assistance when disasters happen. In 2024, we directed 335 grants to support these focus areas and offer other community support.

“Since its formation in 1987, our foundation has been a consistent force for good in our communities. I’m grateful to lead this work and continually inspired by the national and local organizations we support. Together, we are creating more resilient, healthier communities and enhancing economic and educational opportunities for everyone.”

Keith Dailey, President

Board of Directors

The foundation’s Board of Directors includes the following Kroger leaders:

President: Keith Dailey, Group Vice President Communications & Public Affairs
